Historic Replication

Old World Craftsmanship provided a level of beauty and quality that has endured for centuries.

Preserving America's heritage is a major focus of Parrett's work. Parrett will replicate windows and doors of the past to exact detail, or if desired, modify to your specification.

And, if providing enhancements through energy efficient engineering is desired, Parrett will redesign the frame as necessary while maintaining as much of the original style as possible.

Historic Replication

Parrett welcomes the challenge of replicating to historically accurate specification. Preserve the character of your building.
